LIBRARY MANAGEMENT SOFTWARE eLIB iNXT

eLIBiNXT stands as a beacon of efficiency and innovation in the realm of library management. Tailored specifically to address the multifaceted needs of our library, this software serves as a comprehensive solution for streamlining various tasks, from issue and return of books to managing references, periodicals, and journals.

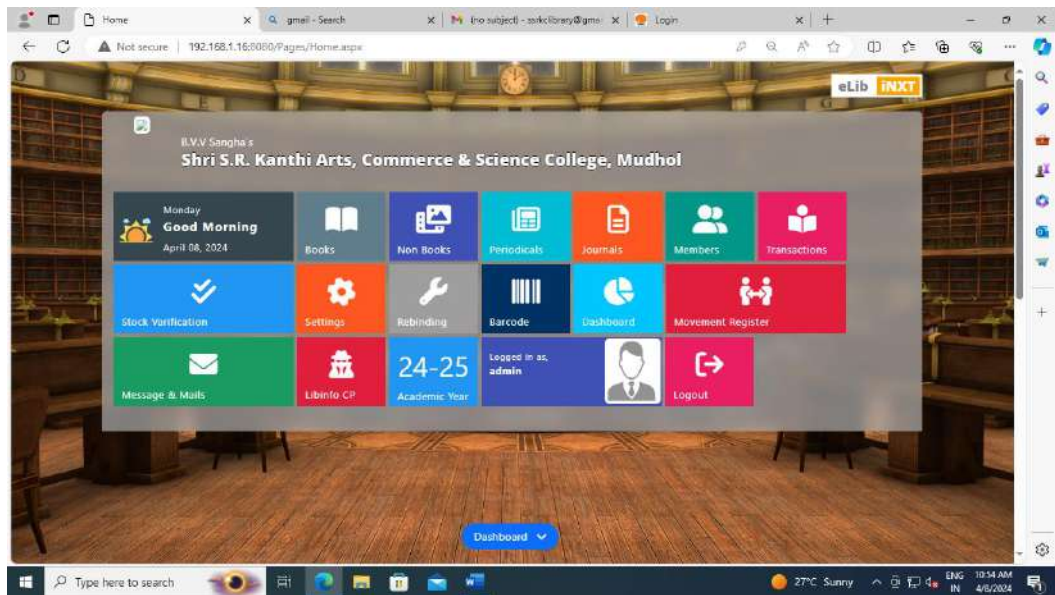

One of the standout features of eLIBiNXT is its user-friendly interface, which simplifies the process of adding new books to our collection and facilitating the subscription of journals. Moreover, the software enables seamless registration of new members, including both students and staff, thereby enhancing accessibility to our vast array of resources.

Beyond these functionalities, eLIBiNXT offers a plethora of reporting tools, empowering our library staff to generate various reports effortlessly. From movement registers to accessions registers, the software provides comprehensive insights into the dynamics of our library's operations.

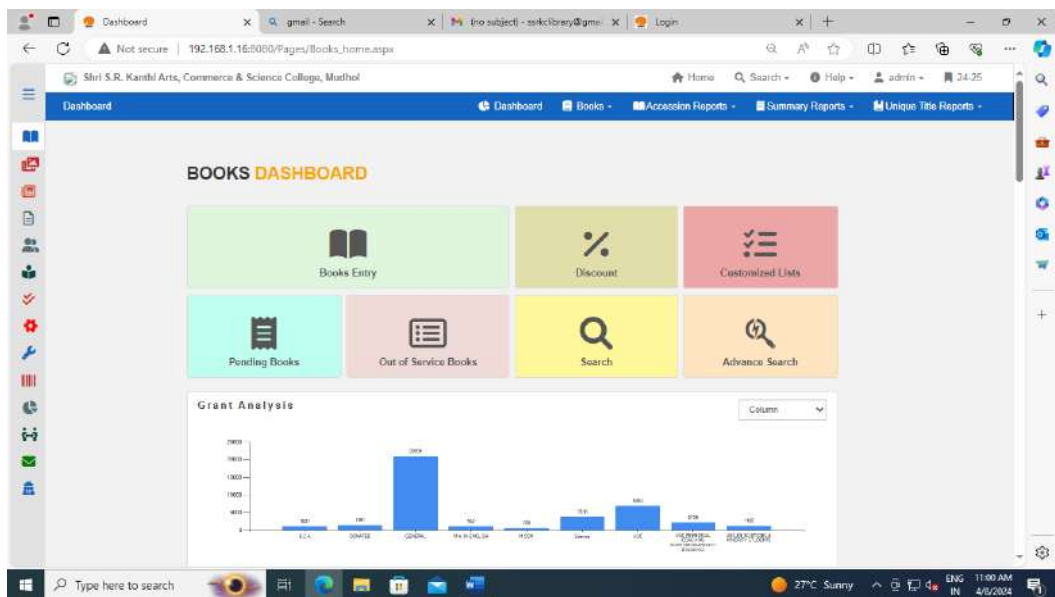

Furthermore, eLIBiNXT boasts versatility in its accessibility. Whether accessed through an IP-based network or a LAN-based setup, users within our college's network can effortlessly tap into the functionalities of this software.

ONLINE PUBLIC ACCESS CATALOGUE (OPAC)

You can browse the eLIB Online Public Access Catalogue (OPAC) from anywhere in the world, even from the comfort of your home. Through the OPAC, you have access to a vast array of resources including books, journals, periodicals, newspapers, CDs/DVDs, and dissertations. The Libinfo application facilitates this access and is available for download on the Play Store. For campus access via LAN connection, you can use the following URL: <http://192.168.1.16:8080/OPAC/home.aspx>.

This IP address provides access to the OPAC within the campus network.

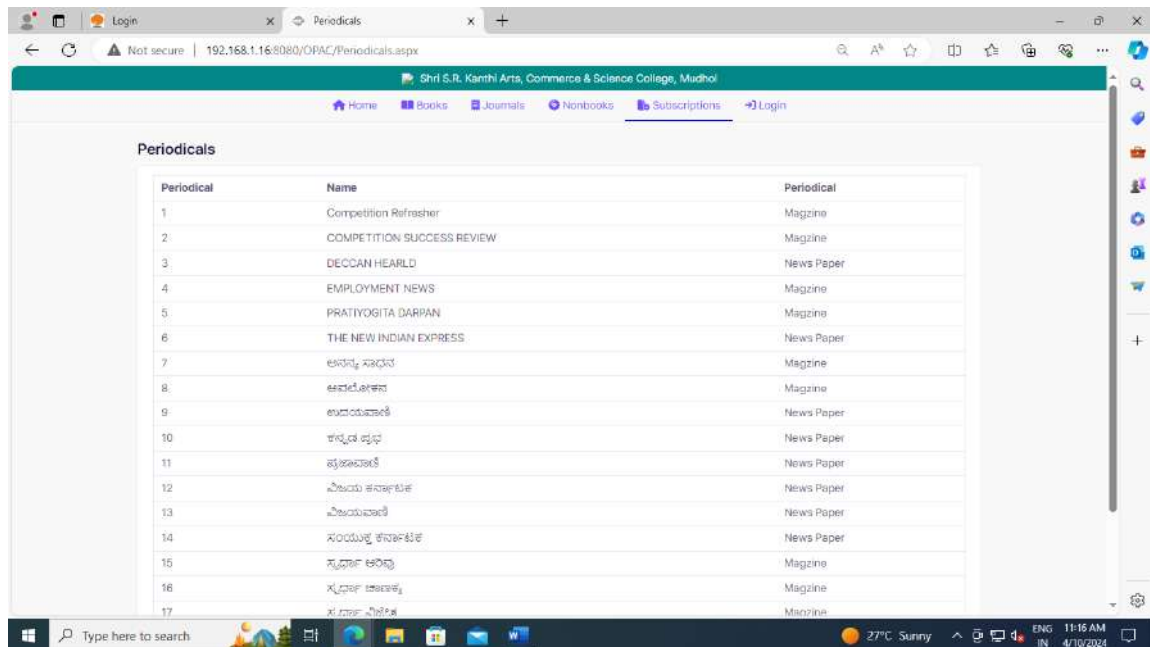

This is the eLIB Online Public Access Catalogue (OPAC) window, where we can view the total number of existing books, journals, periodicals, and non-books. Additionally, we can observe new arrivals displayed with their main covers and details, with these new arrivals moving from right to left on the screen.

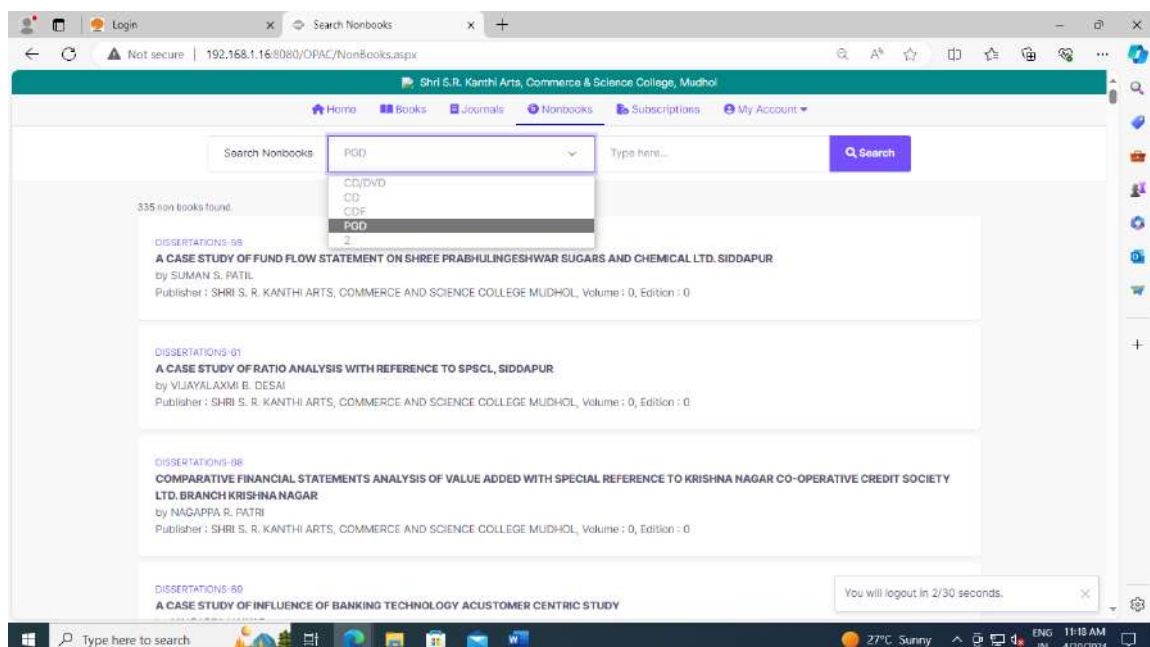

When we search for journals in the Online Public Access Catalogue (OPAC), it displays a list of journals along with details of existing volumes and upcoming volumes, including their respective dates.

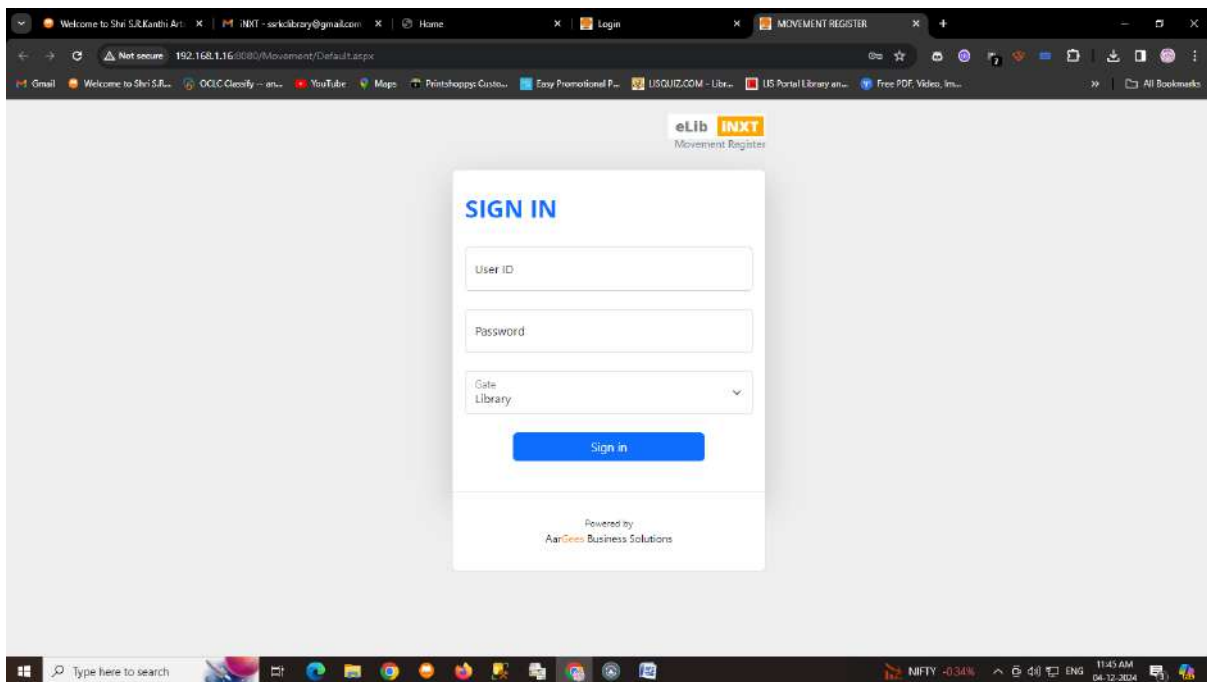

When we search for Periodicals in the Online Public Access Catalogue (OPAC), it displays a list of Periodicals along with details.

When we click on the "Non-books" tab, we access a window where we can search for non-books by CD/DVD and Dissertations. After obtaining the search results, the window displays details of the non-book, including its title and author.

MOVEMENT REGISTER

When entering the library, we have installed a barcode scanner at the entrance. Students or Staff scan their ID cards upon entry, and the software reads the barcode to display their information, including their name, class, and login time. When students or Staff leave, they scan their ID cards again, and the software displays the logout time.
